Stock Mart Hits Lowest of the Year

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has slumped to its lowest level of this year. It was staggered Monday by the worst one-day loss since President John F. Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, 1963. Brokers blamed tight money as one of the causes. One commented: "Tight money is like a noose and keeps on tightening." Other factors mentioned by analysts were the weakness of the British pound and uncertainty about the Viet Nam war. In Washington, the House Banking Committee approved Monday a bill to limit interest paid on some bank deposits in hopes of channeling more funds to institutions that finance building. This, the majority indicated, would help ease the money situation. But the Republican minority said the measure "will not do the trick." Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., contended the bill also would serve as a signal to the Federal Reserve Board that Congress wants lower interest rates. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 16.32 points to 852.83, the sharpest drop since it lost 21.16 on Nov. 22, 1963. The year's previous low was 864.14 reached last May 17. The Associated Press 60-stock average declined 5.4 points to 306.2, also a new low, and the steepest decline since it lost 7.2 on the day of the assassination.

Holt Man to Beat, Say Other 6 in the Gubernatorial Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Seven candidates bid today for a Democratic gubernatorial nomination that may no longer be equivalent to election in this once "safe" Democratic state. Party unity has been one of the prime issues because the winner expects to face Republican Winthrop Rockefeller in November and Rockefeller polled 43 per cent of the vote two years ago against Gov. Orval Faubus, the all-time champion of Arkansas politics. Faubus is not seeking re-election, but his administration and the political organization he built during 12 years in office have been the main topics of debate in a two-month campaign. Six candidates contend that the Faubus "machine" has swung behind Frank Holt, a 55-year-old former prosecutor, attorney general and Supreme Court justice who has denied that he has any Faubus ties. Lined up against Holt were Jim Johnson, 41, of Conway, a former segregationist spokesman and Supreme Court justice; Brooks Hays, 67, of Little Rock, a former congressman and adviser to presidents; Dale Alford, 50, of Little Rock, another former congressman; Sam Boyce, 34, of Newport, a prosecutor and former president of the Arkansas Young Democrats; Raymond Rebsamen, 68, of Little Rock, a businessman and civic leader, and Kenneth Sulcer, 41, of Osceola, a 14-year veteran of the state legislature. Holt claimed on election eve to be leading the ticket and other candidates conceded that he stands a good chance of being in the Aug. 9 runoff between the top two finishers in today's voting. But each of the others was predicting that he would be the man in the runoff with Holt. To avoid a runoff, one candidate must get more than 50 per cent of the vote cast. But polls showed that no candidate had more than 25 per cent. Each of the Democrats claimed that he could best carry the party's fight against Rockefeller who was involved today in a primary race against Gus McMillan of Sheridan, who, Rockefeller said, was put into the race by Democrats for harassment. McMillan ran for governor as a Democrat in 1954. Faubus has made no public pronouncement for any candidate. He has promised to support the winner against Rockefeller. While the governor's race has attracted the most attention, election officials will be counting a full ballot when the polls, which open at 8 a.m., close at 6:30 p.m. CST. Sen. John L. McClellan and each of the three incumbent congressmen have opposition, and there is a five-man Democratic race for a vacant congressional seat in the 4th District. None of the incumbents is believed to be in trouble.

Big Squeeze on for Air Line Folks

By JOHN VINOCUR
NEW YORK (AP) — Codfish and beans are back on the menu in one striker's household and a furloughed stewardess has taken a job in a charm school. But the economic squeeze on 66,000 out-of-work airlines employees seems to be tolerable so far. Most workers, however, get down to the final dollars in their last pay envelope. This week. There is unemployment insurance for furloughed employees, but the striking machinists must make do on $25 weekly union benefit checks or look for outside work. Harry Rudolph, a union spokesman at New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport, said his members rode out the first two weeks of the strike, now in its 19th day, with money from their last regular pay period which ended July 15. "They'll have to do a little belt tightening now," Rudolph said. Evidence that the squeeze was beginning came from a wife of a Trans World Airlines machinist who joined other wives in a demonstration at the line's futuristic terminal at Kennedy Monday. She said her family was eating "beans and codfish cakes" and that she was contemplating borrowing money to tide them over. A United Air Lines spokesman in Chicago said a stewardess who teaches in their training program had gone back to work in a charm school, where she had been employed previously. In Miami, some machinists were reported to have taken temporary jobs, including toting luggage for the nonstriking lines, while a number of the women who clean planes in Los Angeles were doing housework in between their turns on the picket line. The strikers could be ordered back to work for a 180-day period if Congress acts on a mediation proposal. The union is demanding wage increases of 53 cents per hour over a three-year contract from United, National, Northwest, Eastern and Trans World airlines. The lines say they have lost about $126 million in revenues since the strike began July 8 and that their employees have lost about $29 million in wages. There were indications, however, that a number of the machinists were prepared financially for the strike. Paul Coker, lead mechanic at TWA's Kansas City overhaul base, said: "We saw this thing coming months ago. Everybody started digging in right then. Got their bills paid up. Got themselves in financial shape." Anthony DeLillo, an Eastern employee in Miami, who said he just finished paying his debts from an earlier strike, commented, "I'm willing to stay out until hell freezes over."

Riots in Brooklyn Investigated

NEW YORK (AP) — Dist. Atty. Aaron E. Koota says he is trying to determine whether the recent racial disorders in the East New York section of Brooklyn were "spontaneous protests by local residents against living conditions or inflamed by professional agitators." Koota called a news conference at his office Monday to announce an "extensive investigation" of the violence and disorders that flared almost nightly for more than a week. East New York — patrolled at night by a police guard estimated at more than 1,000 — has been virtually free of discord for three days. Koota told newsmen: "Information in my possession has prompted the investigation. I don't know whether or not it will produce hard legal evidence for a grand jury." Ky's View of War Is Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called on the administration today to "disassociate itself completely and at once" from the South Vietnamese premier's assertion that an invasion of North Viet Nam is needed for victory. "To accept for ourselves a concept of this war such as that advanced by Gen. (Nguyen Cao) Ky, would appear to be at the gravest variance with the interest and policies of the United States," Mansfield said. Mansfield was immediately supported by the senators who heard his assertion—Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., George D. Aiken, R-Vt., and Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass. "It is high time Gen. Ky understood he doesn't speak for the United States," Javits said. Ky expressed belief in an interview in U.S. News and World Report that a military invasion of Communist North Viet Nam is needed for a complete victory and that it is better to fight the Communist Chinese now "than in five or ten years."

Rally Today in New York Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—A rally by leading issues in active trading carried the stock market higher early this afternoon. But there were more declines than advances in the general list. The recovery movement from Monday's worst loss since the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, lost some of its strength around mid-day. Brokers analyzing the setback said they considered it largely technical since there were no new developments to influence the market. Gains of key issues today ranged from fractions to a point or so. The aircrafts, electronics and airlines, which suffered heavy losses Monday, made a recovery move. United Aircraft, Boeing American World Airways, United Air Lines and Eastern Air Lines gained more than a point. The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained .9 to 309.1 with industrials up 1.5, rails up .8 and utilities .1. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 4.24 to 857.07. Shares of companies making birth control products generally were higher following a report from Milan, Italy, which quoted Vatican sources as saying that Pope Paul might permit Catholic couples to use birth control pills for two years after each birth. Boeing, trading on a block of 39,700 shares, appeared headed for the top of the day's most active list. Goodrich lost about a point and U.S. Rubber was down half a point. Prices advanced in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Army Base Pools Opened to Public

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Needy youngsters soon will be splashing in 70 swimming pools at military bases across the nation. The Pentagon has agreed to share the pools under a crash effort by the federal government to help cool off major metropolitan areas. The Defense Department was enlisted in the new program by the Office of Economic Opportunity, which handles the government's antipoverty program. The OEO said several cities were seeking additional recreational facilities "on an emergency basis immediately." An OEO spokesman declined to say whether the campaign — also aimed at providing public and private pools and even sprinklers for fire hydrants — was calculated in part to ease racial tensions in some areas. A memorandum sent by Sargent Shriver, director of the antipoverty program, to OEO regional offices, said: "In case of public inquiry, it should be emphasized that this is an expansion of OEO summer program efforts and it seeks to be responsive to the needs of communities." The potential use of pools at 40 military installations in 15 states was one of four approaches toward assisting what the OEO called "target area residents." These selected areas include 35 major cities. Arrangements are being made to provide insurance for youngsters who swim in the military pools, a spokesman said. Pools paid for by dues at officers' clubs are excluded from the program. The OEO memorandum to its regional offices said community action agency officials should work with local base commanders in arranging swimming schedules, appropriate shower and clothes-changing facilities and transportation. The OEO also told its regional offices: Extra poverty funds can be provided to local community action directors to extend the operating hours of public pools. Surplus funds also may be used to defray reasonable bus transportation expenses to and from pools.

Mop-Pac's Earnings Set Record

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Pacific Lines announced today if set records for both consolidated earnings and total revenues in the first half of the year. Net income for the first six months was $16,110,016, an increase of $2,619,280 over the same period a year ago. Operating revenues for the first half of 1966 were $214,149,241, or $10,387,316 higher than for the same period last year. The railroad said, however, that operating expenses during the first half of the year rose $4,324,710 to $159,498,076 because of severe washout damage in east Texas, increased wage costs and higher expenses for carrying a greater volume of traffic.

Ham Moses Stricken at Age 78

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — C. Hamilton Moses, chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and long a guiding force in the industrialization of the state, died Monday night at the age of 78. Moses was dining at a Little Rock hotel with Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., when he was struck with an apparent heart attack. The one-time president of Arkansas Power & Light Co. gained national prominence in the 1950s for his criticism of federally owned power companies. Moses was born in Hampton (Calhoun County) in 1888. He received bachelor of science and bachelor of arts degrees from Ouachita Baptist College at Arkadelphia, a master's from Tulane University at New Orleans and a law degree from the University of Arkansas. He served as secretary to three Arkansas governors: George W. Donaghey, 1911-1913; George W. Hays, 1913-1915 and Charles H. Brough, 1917-1919. The late Harvey P. Couch, founder and first president of Arkansas Power & Light Co., hired Moses in 1919 as general counsel for AP&L and other Couch enterprises. Moses played a vital role in the development of telephone, railroad and electric systems, including the Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi power and light companies; the Kansas City Southern and the Louisiana and Arkansas railroads. He was a law partner of two U.S. senators — McClellan and the late Joe T. Robinson, whom Moses like to recall "was the only man to ever fire me when he was elected governor." In the early 1940s, Moses helped develop the "Arkansas Plan," a statewide program designed to develop the rural, community and industrial resources of the state. Moses became the second AP&L president in 1941, succeeding Couch. He was appointed chairman of the board in 1952 and he retired from active company service four years later. He was a member of the AP&L board until two months ago.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Visitation Rights
When Alice divorced Jim, she was given custody of their three-year-old son. However, Jim had visitation rights every Sunday afternoon. He would call for the boy at 3 p.m., take him out for a few hours, and then return him at dinner time. But one thing rankled Alice. "It's those between-meal snacks," she complained in a court hearing. "Jim never fails to feed the boy something while they are out. That is bad for his health. Therefore, I would like to have Jim's visitation rights ended." But the court decided her complaint was not serious enough to justify such drastic action, that the "punishment" was too great for the "crime."

Generally speaking, the law prefers—primarily for the sake of the child—to keep parental ties intact. While visitation rights are often modified, they will not be cut off altogether without a compelling reason. What is a compelling reason? Here are three cases in which the court did decide to bring parental visits to an end: 1) an embittered father made a calculated attempt, during these visits, to turn the child's love for his mother into hatred; 2) a quarrelsome mother used her visits to create violent scenes that left her small daughter in torment; 3) a hard-drinking father not only used vile language to his three young children but also plied them with whiskey. But minor grievances—such as a mother's complaint that the father's visits "annoyed" her—won't suffice. Furthermore a court that does cut off visitation rights may well restore them later if the offending parent mends his ways. For example: A court revoked its ban against a mother who, although once an alcoholic, had quit drinking, found a good job, and gained a respected place in the community. In fact, even if a parent has been barred because of flagrant adultery, visitation rights may be restored when there is enough evidence of reform and repentance. Thus, an adulterous mother who remarried and led a blameless life for several years was able to regain the right to visit her children. The court said: "A child's welfare is best subserved by fostering the virtue of filial piety, even toward a parent who once had erred, but who has long since reformed." ## Just Swings at Anything That Moves

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Fred Whitfield's philosophy of hitting is strikingly simple. "I just go up there and swing at anything that's moving," says the Cleveland first baseman. Whitfield caught a pair of moving pitches Monday night and walloped his 17th and 18th home runs of the season leading the Indians to a 6-3 victory over the Washington Senators. His uncomplicated approach to the fine art of batting leaves Whitfield's teammates dazzled. "He's like Superman," says little Vic Davaillo. "He was born to hit," says outfielder Jim Landis. "I don't know anybody like him. There isn't a pitcher he can't hit."

Leon Wagner, no slouch with the bat himself, probably sums Whitfield up best. "He has no style," says Wagner. "He just hits."

His style was contagious against the Senators. After he broke a 3-3 tie with his seventh-inning homer off Mike McCormick, Joe Azcue tagged the next pitcher for another homer.

Whitfield's second homer of the night, leading off the ninth inning, wrapped up Cleveland's scoring.

Whitfield and Azcue had three hits apiece as the Indians moved into third place in the American League, one game back of Detroit. Idle California slipped to fourth, one-half game back of the Indians.

In the National League Monday, San Francisco closed within two percentage points of first place Pittsburgh with a 2-1 victory over the Pirates behind Juan Marichal. New York beat Houston 6-4 and Los Angeles defeated Philadelphia 6-3.

Sonny Siebert, who no-hit the Senators last month, scattered nine hits including a two-run homer by Bob Saverine. Siebert went the distance for his 10th victory.

Baltimore, holding a commanding 12-game lead, entertains Cleveland tonight as the rest of the American League swings back into action. The Orioles will pitch Steve Barber against Gary Bell.

Pirates Lose Crucial One to Marichal

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Some of his more zealous fans at home say if he wanted to run, Juan Marichal could be elected president of the Dominican Republic.

Marichal, however, wouldn't win any popularity contest in the National League, especially with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

But then, neither would Herman Franks.

Franks and Marichal teamed up Monday and sparked the San Francisco Giants to a 2-1 victory over the first-place Pirates. The triumph moved the Giants to within two percentage points of the lead.

Marichal, the ace right-hander of the league, originally was scheduled to pitch against Philadelphia Sunday. But Giant Manager Franks decided to save him for the opener of the crucial three-game series with Pittsburgh.

Thus, the 26-year-old Dominican rested four days instead of three. The change didn't hurt him.

He stopped the Pirates on six hits, halted Roberto Clemente's hitting streak at 17 games, didn't walk anyone and scored the eventual deciding run after an alert bit of base running.

Taken together, that gave Marichal his 10th victory against four defeats, his 10th complete game in 23 starts and an earned run average of 1.35.

Travelers Take Series at El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers completed a series sweep over El Paso Monday night with a 3-2 Texas League baseball victory. Steve Huntz hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning and Arkansas got an unearned run in the sixth to back up Mike Torrez' four-hit pitching.

The Sun Kings' runs came on Torrez' wildness in the sixth inning when he issued two bases-loaded walks. Arkansas' victory kept the Travelers on top of the Texas League standings by 3½ games. Elsewhere in the league, Albuquerque scored a 7-3 victory over Dallas-Fort Worth and Amarillo beat Austin 10-4.

Midget Race Car Kills 2 in Ohio City

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — The annual Putnam County Fair ended Monday night with screams and near-panic when a midget racing car crashed a fence, killing two teen-age spectators and injuring at least seven others.

Thousands were at the fairgrounds race track when the accident occurred as the final night of the six-day fair drew toward a close.

The racer driven by Jan Healy of Battle Creek, Mich., attempting to avoid another car that had skidded, rammed the fence.

Charles Horstman, 19, was killed instantly. He suffered a skull fracture. Gary D. Burden, 18, was dead on arrival at a Lima hospital.

Another seven persons were taken to St. Rita's Hospital in Lima, 20 miles away. Five were admitted, one in serious condition.

Healy was among them, with head and facial injuries. Witnesses said one of the youths killed had been sitting atop concrete enclosing a men's rest room but jumped down into the car's path as it slammed into a section where spectators were standing about 250 feet south of the filled grandstand.

The other victim was rolled up in the woven-wire fence as the runaway car tore down some 100 feet of it before going on through and hitting a power pole.

Healy's car, the only one that was wrecked, did not overturn.

League game.

The Giants handed rookie Woody Fryman his fifth defeat against eight victories. They did it by scoring two runs in the third inning.

Ollie Brown singled and beat Fryman's throw to second on Marichal's sacrifice bunt.

Tito Fuentes followed with a single, driving in Brown, and when Fryman, backing up the plate, tried to get Fuentes coming back to first, Marichal darted for third and made it. He then came home as Hal Lanier grounded into a double play.

The third-place Dodgers moved to within 1½ games of the top by breaking a 3-3 tie with a three-run rally in the eighth. Al Ferrara singled across the first run, Dick Stuart the second and the third came across on Jim Gilliam's ground-out.

Stuart earlier homered for Los Angeles while Bill White and John Briggs connected for Philadelphia.

Pitcher Dennis Ribant struck a two-run single that climaxed a four-run outburst in the eighth inning and gave New York enough runs for its record fifth straight victory over Houston.

Woodard Is New Head of the AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Milt Woodard has taken over as the new president of the American Football League, succeeding Al Davis.

The 55-year-old Woodard, a native of Tacoma, Wash., stepped into the shoes of his old boss, Joe Foss, when the 37-year-old Davis quit Monday in a move that had been long rumored. Davis had replaced Foss as commissioner last April 6.

Davis' resignation had been expected since the recent merger of the AFL and the National Football League, effective in 1970. Davis had opposed the merger.

"I don't know what my position will be when the merger becomes effective in 1970," Woodard said. "That's up to the owners to decide. I have not yet actually signed my contract, but I believe it will be for at least three years."

Woodard had been assistant to Foss until Davis took office. He went to Florida then on private business while retaining a part-time status with the AFL.

Under the terms of the AFL-NFL merger Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner, will be the over-all boss.

"No one knows the AFL better than Woodard," said Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills who announced the executive changes. "His experience will be invaluable in guiding us through the transitions we will experience during the next few years."

Davis would not reveal his plans, but said he would continue to serve the league in an advisory capacity. It is considered likely he will collect the remainder of his five-year contract at an estimated $60,000 annually.

Speck Grand Jury Verdict Due Today

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cook County state's attorney expects a decision today by the grand jury on the evidence submitted against Richard Speck, 24, in the mass murder of eight nurses.

State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward said Monday: "I have presented the case to the grand jury and I cannot say what the grand jury is going to do."

Ward said he would seek a murder indictment against Speck for each slaying. Speck is presently charged with murdering Gloria Jean Davis, 22, of Dyer, Ind., who police believe was the first nurse slain in the methodical July 14 massacre.

A murder indictment on each slaying would permit the state to try Speck eight times, if necessary, to get a conviction.

Ward added that he expected a grand jury decision today "through some court."

Frosh Take Pre-College Training

MAGNOLIA, Ark. — Southern State College began its second week of one-day orientation sessions for freshmen planning to attend this fall on Monday, July 25, according to Milton B. Talley, dean of students.

Hundreds of freshmen will spend the day on campus at one of the sessions, scheduled July 27 and 29, August 3, 5, and 9 and September 2 (a make-up session for freshmen making application between now and registration day Sept. 8 and 9) with out-of-state students receiving orientation on Sept. 6.

The freshmen report at 7:30 a.m. to the campus, where they are welcomed by President Imron E. Bruce and college staff before taking placement tests and receiving advice on college objectives and responsibilities.

After lunch in the college dining hall, each student meets with an advisor and is given a complete schedule of courses for the fall semester beginning Sept. 12.

Approximately 100 freshmen attended each session and have pictures made for student identification cards, made in entirety on campus with equipment recently purchased by the college and distributed at registration.

The freshmen will return early this fall on Sept. 7 for another full day of orientation to campus facilities and regulations before registering for the fall semester, Dean Talley said.

The only American Football League club reporting cuts was San Diego. The Chargers released place kicker Oscar Benetto, a soccer star at the University of Argentina, and end Jerome Bell from Central Oklahoma.

The five given regular waivers included tackle Mike Bunda, linebackers Al Watersfield of West Texas State and Dick Fugere of Cincinnati, flanker Dick Griesheim of Illinois Teachers and defensive back Dave Bowden of Fort Valley, Ga. State.

Only three times before the Miss Arkansas Pageant had she performed this particular number, she said. Those were at the Miss Arkansas Valley and Miss Batesville contests, both of which she won, and at the Poultry Princess contest, which she did not complete in.

Weight Is Taking Toll of Gridders

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Several rookies were cut by professional football clubs; several Chicago Bears were fined for not cutting — extra weight — and the Detroit Lions weren't being cut, they were walking away.

One of the biggest cuts Monday was George Sutor, a 6-foot-7, former LaSalle basketball player, who was released by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

On the other end of the scale was 5-foot-10 Ken Lucas, former University of Pittsburgh quarterback, who was released by the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers because he had trouble seeing over big, on-rushing linemen.

Meanwhile, in the camp of the Chicago Bears, 12 players were fined $50 daily for being overweight and threatened with $200 fines starting next Sunday if they are not at playing weight.

"We are not making the progress expected at this stage of training camp," said Owner-Coach George Halas, one of the NFL's founders. "We are being held back principally by 12 overweight players. They are being fined $50 a day from July 22, but that is small consolation to the coaches."

The 12 players were not named.

Things were not well in the camp of the NFL Lions, either. Flanker Pat Studstill walked out of camp in a salary dispute, joining three other unsigned players who have refused to participate in practice sessions.

They are defensive end Darris McCord, offensive guard John Gordy and offensive tackle Ted Karris. Each is being fined $100 a day for missing training.

Ron Kramer and Bruce Maher also still are unsigned by the Lions, but they have been taking part in drills.

The Washington Redskins waived seven players, but two of them, defensive halfback Hal Seymour of Florida and halfback Tom Michel, were designated as injured and will remain club property.

New Miss Arkansas Meets Press

By WAYMAN C. DUNLAP
Associated Press Writer
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Mary Luella Craig of Batesville got off to a good start as the newly crowned Miss Arkansas Sunday by winning over newsmen and photographers with her charm and personality.

She looked fresh and radiant at a morning news conference only hours after winning the state's most coveted beauty crown.

"As tired as I was," she said, "sleeping wasn't difficult."

Miss Craig, at 17 the second youngest girl in the contest and, according to pageant officials, the youngest to ever win the Miss Arkansas title, succeeds Nita Kaye Vanhook of Newport, N.J., for the Miss America contest in September.

Miss Craig, a 35-24-36, 5-foot-6, 117-pound brunette, was dressed neatly in a two-piece floral print suit with matching tan shoes and a handbag.

Marylyn Gail Bigge, 22, a lovely blonde representing mena, was the first runner-up. Second runner-up was Deanna Karen Waldrup, 20, Miss University of Arkansas. Third was Mary Elizabeth Womack, 18, Miss El Dorado and fourth runner-up was Miss Marianna, Sandy Beauchamp, 19.

Miss Craig was the personal favorite of several pageant regulars, particularly so after she won both her talent and swimsuit preliminaries.

She drew three bursts of spontaneous applause and two encores for her rendition of a song and dance novelty act entitled "Mirrors of Mary."

QUESTION: What is the price of America's most popular cigar?

ANSWER: Not 5¢, not 10¢, not 2/25¢! It's the 6¢ King Edward Imperial that has the VERY SPECIAL VALUE that makes it America's largest seller.

Once this mammoth alligator had been tagged, he served as a seat for Lt. Shirley.

Members of Florida's Fish and Game Commission poke around in an Everglades mud hole for alligators.

'GATOR HUNT

Each year, during the dry season, Lt. Tom Shirley of the Florida Fish and Game Commission takes to the Everglades swamps east of Andytown in search of bull alligators.

Using a long, hickory pole, he pokes around in the muddy water holes until he brings his quarry to the surface.

From then on it's a battle between reptile and man as Shirley and his assistants try to get a rope around the beast's snout, tie him up and haul him to shore.

Frequently the 'gator bites through the pole as if it were a stick of candy.

Once the alligator is on shore and more securely tied up, a hole is drilled into its tough hide, just behind the head, and a small tag is riveted to it. This does not hurt the creature, Shirley says.

It's all done to study the migratory habits, health and various species of the Everglades alligators.

Shirley dangles a loop at the end of a pole as the bull alligator charges.

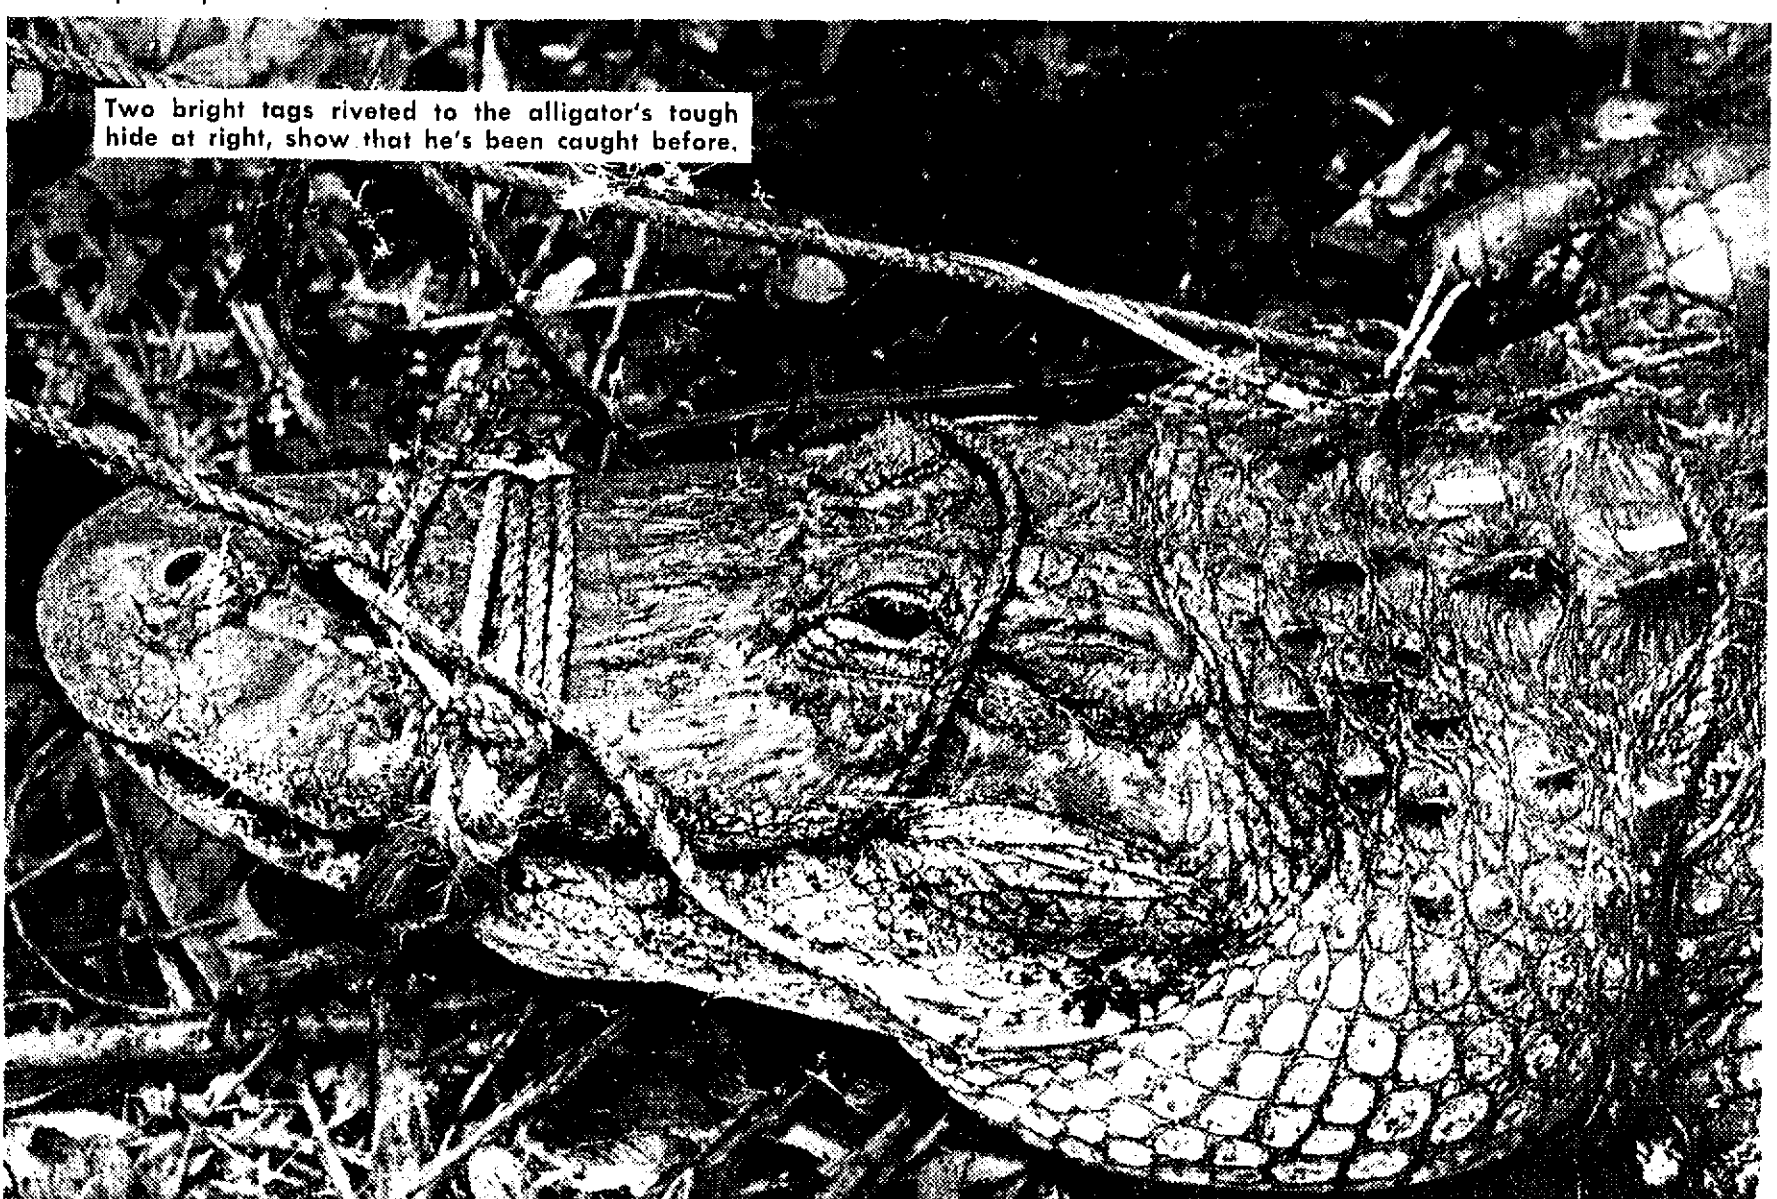

While trying to get a loop around the alligator's mouth, the weight of the alligator and Shirley's efforts to hold it off snap the pole.

Prodding from behind induces this 'gator to leave his hiding place in the brush.

A swamp buggy pulls the 'gator from the swamp as Shirley uses a board to pry him up from mud.

Two bright tags riveted to the alligator's tough hide at right, show that he's been caught before.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—In what city was the National Cowboy Hall of Fame established?
A—Oklahoma City, Okla.

Q—What was the first public building to be built in Washington, D.C.?
A—The executive mansion. The cornerstone was laid by George Washington in 1792.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Good State of Nutrition Ends Sunken Eye Problem

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I recently heard that as we grow older our eyes become smaller. Is there any way to prevent this?

A—The eyeball does not become smaller with age. In some persons the cushion of fat in back of the eye shrinks, giving the eye a sunken appearance. This can happen at any age with malnutrition or a debilitating disease. You should maintain a good state of nutrition and have a periodic physical checkup to rule out serious organic disease.

Q—An eye doctor said I had choroiditis caused by toxoplasmosis. I also had a strongly positive tuberculin skin test. Does this mean I have tuberculosis? What are choroiditis and toxoplasmosis?

A—Choroiditis is an inflammation of the choroid, the dark brown membrane between your retina and the hard white fibrous capsule of the eye. Your doctor made a tuberculin test because tuberculosis is one cause of choroiditis but a positive test only means that you have had a touch of tuberculosis in the past. At the time of the test it may be active or completely cured. That is why other tests must be made to confirm a diagnosis of tuberculosis.

Toxoplasmosis is a disease caused by a small parasite similar to the amoeba. It frequently affects the choroid but it can be cured by a combination of sulfa drugs and pyrimethamine (Daraprim).

Q—Sometimes my eyeballs throb and hurt. What could cause this?

A—There are many causes of pain in the eyes. These include various inflammatory diseases of the eye itself, an inflammation of the optic nerve called retrobulbar neuritis, influenza and other acute febrile diseases including acute sinusitis. The commonest cause, however, is eyestrain which may be due to an error of refraction or using your eyes for close work under faulty illumination (glare or insufficient light).

Q—Can Erythrocin or other antibiotics cause permanent damage to the retina? Can retinal damage be detected by a routine eye examination?

A—There have been no reports of such damage. A routine examination by a qualified ophthalmologist would reveal retinal trouble if it were present. This would lead to more refined tests to confirm the diagnosis, localize the lesion and determine the cause.

Q—My eye doctor said I had iritis but he could not find the cause. Could arthritis or psoriasis (which I have) cause it?

A—Iritis is sometimes associated with arthritis and gout but not psoriasis. Often the cause cannot be found.

Take a look at the North and South hands only and plan your play at four spades. West opens the king of clubs and shifts to the jack of diamonds. Needless to say you win in dummy. What do you do next?

If you are the ordinary good player you will check the hand and see one loser in each suit except hearts and a potential heart loser if the finesse for the king doesn't work. You lead a trump first in order to get rid of the enemy's trumps and eventually you will take the heart finesse. It will lose and you will charge another loss to bad luck.

An expert will study the hand a trifle further. He sees the possibility of setting up a club trick in dummy but will know there is nothing to be gained that way. Then he will take a long look at his nine of hearts and note the possibility of taking a deep sea finesse against the jack and ten.

He doesn't expect this to work, but it may. There is one chance in four that East will hold both those cards.

What can the play cost him? Give East the king and West either the jack or ten. The

Times Change Airconditioning Beats Block Parties

About this hour on an Election Tuesday, a few years back, we would have been doing a double job — getting out the daily Star on the one hand, and also directing the business of setting up for an Election Night block party in front of the newspaper building.

There would be a huge screen across the street, a projector in the newspaper plant to flash the returns — and an army of dissemblers of sandwiches and soft drinks on the sidewalks.

No newspaper ever had a better response from the public, which turned out in numbers as high as 4,000. They came early and stayed late. In the first Carl Bailey gubernatorial primary the crowd stayed on until the Associated Press quit tabulating and we "signed off" on the screen at 1 a.m.

But those days are gone. Attendance began to slip a few years ago, and we killed the biennial block party.

It wasn't that the public had lost interest in elections. Not by any means. What killed the pen-air block party was airconditioning. People loved the up-pour of an outdoors crowd, but the July heat and the option of hearing returns over the radio in the comfort of an airconditioned room was too good to be ignored.

So today's election will be reported tonight by Radio Station KXAR — but we'll still be wrestling with the preparation of the precinct tables which have to be printed on Wednesday, the most valuable documentary in any election.

ELYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Robert Whipple, about 21, was fatally shocked Monday when a television antenna he was putting up came in contact with a high voltage line, State Police said.

Trooper Marvin Weeks said Whipple had just moved into a trailer court here Monday morning from Poplar Bluff, Mo. Weeks said Mrs. Whipple was apparently after the accident, apparently from being in a state of shock. Her condition as listed as satisfactory.

The project covers parts of Hempstead, Howard, and Pike counties. The congressman's wire said he was hopeful of obtaining final approval quickly from the committees on agriculture of the house and senate.

KXAR Will

Report on

Election

Complete election returns will be given over Radio Station KXAR tonight (Tuesday), General Manager Haskell Jones announced.

Returns will be tabulated in the county clerk's office at the courthouse and precinct officials are asked to forward their tallies to that office just as soon as the precinct count is completed.

KXAR will report on all local races from the county clerk's office and will carry all state returns from the Associated Press, remaining on the air until tabulation ends for the night, Mr. Jones said.

Formerly The Star held Election Night parties in front of the newspaper building with returns being flashed on an outdoor screen, but dwindling attendance caused the block parties to be discontinued in recent years. Complete election tables will be published in Wednesday afternoon's Star, both state and local.

British Vote to Take Over Steel Mills

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
LONDON (AP) — The House of Commons voted approval Monday night of the Labor government's bill to nationalize Britain's steel industry as the Conservatives mounted an attack on Prime Minister Harold Wilson's handling of the national economy.

The measure, approved by a vote of 328-247 on its second reading, would nationalize the 14 big companies which supply 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

Final passage is expected late this year, although the Conservatives may try to delay it by pressing for a procedure that would permit each company involved to present testimony against the bill.

Anthony Barber, Conservative spokesman on steel, repeated the opposition argument that the bill is irrelevant to Britain's economic problems. Barber said the Conservatives would return steel to private ownership if they regain power. But he added a new qualification, saying they would drop state ownership "to whatever extent is necessary and practicable."

Barber declared that Britain's steel industry needs more competition, not less. Power Minister Richard Marsh countered that steel exports and productivity have been on the decline while imports of raw materials have been going up. The only way to reverse this trend, he asserted, is for the government to take over and reorganize the industry.

Commons begins a two-day debate today on Britain's economic crisis based on a Conservative motion expressing no confidence in the government's ability. There was no likelihood that the Labor party's disgruntled left wing would desert the government to vote with the Conservatives and put Wilson out of office.

More important to the future of Labor's austerity measures was the attitude of the Trades Union Congress toward the six-month wage freeze announced last week as part of the package to protect the pound by raising taxes and cutting government spending.

Wilson and Economics Minister George Brown pressed the TUC economic committee to knuckle under for the good of the country in a 90-minute meeting Monday night.

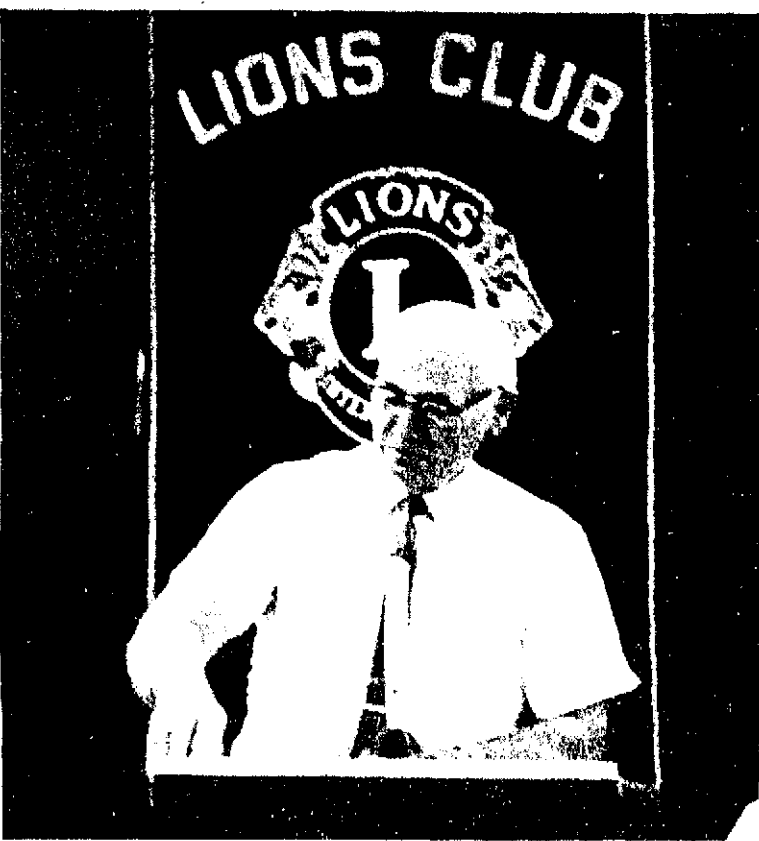

George Woodcock, TUC general secretary who has been skeptical of the freeze, told newsmen he thought some of the union leaders had been impressed by the talk. They scheduled another meeting with Wilson tonight to tell him their decision.

Union cooperation helped make the wage freeze of the 1940s effective and is equally vital to this one. The government plans to put teeth into it by legislating a six-month standstill period for all prospective boosts referred to the Prices and Incomes Board by official order.

Man-Made Flood in Everglades Threat to Deer, Irks Men

By DOUG B AILEY

ANDY TOWN, Fla. (AP) — A high that the levees might be threatened. That in turn would threaten the thickly populated east coast should a hurricane sweep in, the corps says.

"We are doing everything we can," said Ed Dail, head of the Flood Control District, "but you have to understand these areas come first."

Earle Frye, head of the State Game Commission, said, "We're going to do everything we can. But when you start arguing about humans and deer, you know who comes out on top."

Millions of gallons of water a minute are pouring into a 900-square-mile wildlife management area west of Miami, swallowing dry land and foliage until there are only isolated islands left in water two to six feet deep.

The entire fawn crop has been wiped out, conservationists say, and now the 4,000 to 6,000 bucks and does are starving to death or dying of disease.

The water is being pumped into the wilderness from rich farmlands to the north and is flowing through open gates from huge reservoirs to the east.

The authority to stop it seems buried in overlapping state and federal agencies.

Fiskell and others who roam the Everglades north of the national park blame the central and southern Florida Flood Control District. They want it to stop the pumping and shut the gates.

The district says it cannot stop pumping the farmlands because a heavy rain would flood valuable crops. In the reservoirs, the district says, heavy summer rains have created water levels so high that the decision to close the gates is now in the hands of the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

The corps says the gates cannot be closed because water would stack up behind them so

Bad Weather Doesn't Stop Air Strike

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. airmen flew over typhoon winds and through monsoon rains to pound targets in North and South Viet Nam as ground fighting dwindled again.

Just below the 17th Parallel frontier, U.S. Marines pursued the hunt for the battered survivors of the first full North Vietnamese division sent South but made no contact with the elusive foe. As they slipped deeper into the jungle, the Communists left behind 736 dead, the Marines reported.

The battle debris and scarred terrain indicated the enemy toll may be far higher, officers said. With most of the Hanol regulars of Division 324B apparently back across the border or in flight toward Laos, Air Force B52s flew over Typhoon Ora early today to bomb suspected Viet Cong jungle hideouts in the D Zone stronghold 80 miles northeast of Saigon.

Flying through low clouds and occasional thunderstorms, Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots racked up 71 missions Monday over North Viet Nam. They hit nine fuel dumps and assorted bridge, rail and supply targets that took them within 20 miles of Hanol.

Pilots reported half a dozen surface-to-air missiles were sent up against them around Hanol, but no American losses were reported.

Marine pilots hit a suspected ammunition dump just north of the 17th Parallel on the Red supply route to the South. They reported 50 secondary explosions.

The typhoon, whipping across the Gulf of Tonkin toward North Viet Nam and Communist China, sharply curtailed plane launchings from 7th Fleet carriers. Instead of its usual 40 to 50 missions, the Navy was able to send off only nine against the Communist North.

In South Viet Nam, U.S. and South Vietnamese pilots flew a total of 487 single-plane strikes despite bad weather over much of the area.

In the Mekong Delta 78 miles west of Saigon a South Vietnamese militia force of 30 men fought off three times that number of Viet Cong early today.

The Viet Cong called off the attack when a flare plane lit up the predawn darkness. The platoon defending the hamlet of Kien Phong sustained only a few casualties, a spokesman said.

The sound of heavy artillery and air strikes also echoed across Saigon in an effort to forestall a further rise in Communist activity. An early morning allied barrage took aim at the jungles around Nha Be, the big oil dump 10 miles south of Saigon, and other likely guerrilla targets in the Saigon area.

A U.S. military spokesman said the attacks were part of the continuing allied campaign to keep the enemy off balance.

Rights Bill House Clause Key to Delay

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House plunges into a second day of discussion on the civil rights bill today with Southern Democrats vowing to do all in their power to delay a final vote.

The opponents' quickly unfurled their delaying tactics Monday when the House opened consideration of the compromise legislation. House leaders said they hoped to reach a final vote by the end of the week, but they weren't optimistic. Numerous amendments are pending.

The bill reached the House floor via a new rule which limits to 21 days the time the House Rules Committee can delay legislation approved by other committees. The motion to bypass the Rules Committee carried by a 200-180 vote, with 180 Democrats and 20 Republicans supporting it and 75 Democrats and 105 Republicans against it.

That was sufficient indication that more trouble lay ahead, since some members who voted for consideration may vote against the bill if it isn't changed to their liking.

The most controversial provision is aimed at prohibiting discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. It is directed primarily at real estate agents and builders and wouldn't affect homeowners who have fewer than two real estate transactions in one year.

The bill deals also with state and federal jury selection, and it prohibits interference with Negroes trying to vote, go to school, use public transportation or take part in legal demonstrations.

Opponents started dilatory tactics by demanding time-consuming roll calls to keep the necessary 100 members in the chamber. The roll calls are automatic when attendance drops below 100 and a member objects.

Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., opened the fight by trying to deal the bill a sudden-death blow. Williams, who was disciplined by House Democrats last year for supporting Republican Barry Goldwater for president, claimed the House Judiciary Committee report on the bill violated a rule that requires details of proposed changes in existing laws.

Speaker John W. McCormack held that there was substantial compliance with the rule and the Williams dropped that argument.

Other House members, however, are having waistline trouble. His weight, which has varied from 190 to 290, now hovers around 218.

"I've lost about 500 pounds as a round figure in my time," he said cheerfully.

"I believe that the real trouble with people like me is that we simply have too placid a temperament. We have insufficient internal jitters to burn up our food and drink."

"That's very healthy and should mean a long life," he reached over and knocked his knuckles on the wooden paneling. "It's better not to worry about unnecessary things."

Silent Vote May Be at Work Today

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The quiet man with the loud answer — the voter — took charge of Arkansas politics today.

The principal decision that he had to make was which of seven Democratic candidates for governor will qualify for an Aug. 9 runoff primary.

An estimated 400,000 of the state's 687,631 qualified voters were expected to go to the polls between 8 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

A small percentage — perhaps as many as 50,000 — were expected to vote in the Republican primary which pitted Winthrop Rockefeller against Gus McMillan of Sheridan in the governor's race.

The rest marked what has to be one of the longest Democratic primary ballots in Arkansas history.

A U.S. Senate race, four congressional races, contests for six state constitutional offices and a host of district and county races lengthened the ballot.

Counting was expected to be slow, especially in the larger counties. Establishment of clear-cut leaders in the governor's race before midnight was unlikely.

Certainly there was no clear-cut favorite when balloting started.

Frank Holt, target of criticism from each of the other six candidates, claimed that he would lead the ticket, and other candidates seemed to agree, privately if not publicly, that Holt would make the runoff.

But each thought he would be the man opposing Holt during the next two weeks when the campaign is expected to turn away from personalities and toward the issues.

Other House members, however, are having waistline trouble. His weight, which has varied from 190 to 290, now hovers around 218.

"I've lost about 500 pounds as a round figure in my time," he said cheerfully.

LITTLE ROCK Ark., (AP) — Large numbers of Arkansas voters turned out today to pick a democratic candidate for governor in a primary election in this once "safe" democratic state.

Voting in central and south Arkansas was reported generally heavy, with the turnout mixed in other parts of the state.

Long lines of voters greeted poll workers at voting places in the Little Rock-North Little Rock area, which has about a sixth of the voters registered for this election.

At Huntsville, home of Gov. Orval Faubus—a noncombatant for the first time since 1952, more Republicans showed up to vote in their primary in the first hour than Democrats appeared to vote in the Democratic primary.

While the turnout appeared heavy, the voting was slow as Arkansas broke in a new voter registration and checking system with a record number of persons—687,631—qualified for the primaries.

Grand Jury Probes Riots in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A grand jury opens an investigation today of the riots and fire bombing that caused widespread damage and left four persons dead in Negro slums on Cleveland's East Side last week.

Mayor Ralph S. Locher and Maj. Gen. Erwin Hostetter, Ohio National Guard commander, set another meeting to review the situation and decide whether to reduce the force of 1,750 guardsmen who, with police, continue to patrol the Hough area and adjacent districts.

In calling the special grand jury session Monday, Common Pleas Court Judge Thomas J. Parrino said: "The seeds of these riotous acts are found in grave social injustice. Poverty produces enormous frustration. Violence, however, does not remedy any problem. It cannot be condoned."

He said the grand jury, whose foreman is Louis B. Seltzer, former editor of the Cleveland Press, will seek to find the immediate cause of the violence, suggest remedies to community problems and take "appropriate action where evidence of unlawful acts is discovered."

The jurors are expected to turn their attention to the shootings which killed four Negroes. Police said two white men charged in one shooting were members of a Murray Hill vigilante group formed because of fear that rioters might invade the area. Murray Hill is an Italian-American neighborhood several blocks southeast of Hough.

University Circle lies between the two districts.

Man Held Here in Car Theft

Hope city police today are holding Thomas Patrick Bowling of Faulkner, Md., on charge of car theft preferred by Illinois authorities. Bowling will be turned over to the FBI.

He has a private wine cellar of 4,000 bottles, including some going back to 1890 for which he has been offered $100 a bottle by

Other House members, however, are having waistline trouble. His weight, which has varied from 190 to 290, now hovers around 218.

"I've lost about 500 pounds as a round figure in my time," he said cheerfully.

"I believe that the real trouble with people like me is that we simply have too placid a temperament. We have insufficient internal jitters to burn up our food and drink."

"That's very healthy and should mean a long life," he reached over and knocked his knuckles on the wooden paneling. "It's better not to worry about unnecessary things."
